Nutrition Education and Research

Supportership Opportunities

17th July 2020 - Homerton College, University of Cambridge

NNEdPro Global Centre for Nutrition and Health

Improving health through medical nutrition knowledge

We are an award-winning interdisciplinary think-tank, building upon over a decade of nutrition education, research and innovation. We are anchored in Cambridge (UK) and convene central as well as regional networks across six continents as part of the International Knowledge Application Network in Nutrition-2025. We develop adaptable and scalable educational models for nutrition capacity building in health systems. We also conduct a range of training courses as well as primary research studies and syntheses to fill key evidence gaps. Read more about our work here.

NNEdPro, the Global Centre for Nutrition and Health is a world leading and highly innovative, training academy and knowledge network, bringing together the best of education, research, evaluation and advocacy, particularly in nutrition related aspects of health and healthcare systems, representing a strategic partnership between doctors, dietitians, nutritionists, other healthcare professionals, as well as educators and researchers. Through our various Programmatic areas such as: Nutrition Education, Training and Skills (NETS), Nutrition Research and Innovation Consortium (NRIC), Nutritional Equity and Population Health (NEPH), and Implementation Research and Consulting in Nutrition (IRCIN), our aim is to improve nutrition-related health outcomes in line with the United Nations' Sustainable Development Goals and the Decade of Action on Nutrition 2016-2025.

Our annual International Summit is the way in which we bring our extensive knowledge networks together once a year in Cambridge to move the field forward.

A 2020 Evaluation of Global Knowledge Networks in the UN Decade of Action on Nutrition (2016-2025)

The International NNEdPro Summit on Medical & Public Health Nutrition Education & Research is a leading annual international scientific meeting in nutrition research and scientific dialogue attracting delegates who are key opinion leaders in the field from all over the globe.
